

A GREAT GIFT IDEA

The Credibility Gap

the CREDIBILITY GAP

KINGPIN — Preview of forthcoming Black Ivory Productions release. Produced by Kareem Abdul Fetchit. Executive Producer: Samuel Hirschorn. Opening soon at Badass Showcase theaters.

A DATE WITH DANGER — 8 min., color, 16 m, sound. (Worstdrex system). The problem of venereal disease examined from a clinical point of view, with music. Attractive young actors (the kind men like) face a simulated "hot" situation, and learn to cope maturely with eternal damnation. $25 or best offer.

YOU CAN'T JUDGE A BOOK BY ITS HAIR — Perennial chart-toppers the Asthma Brothers outdo themselves with this strong message ditty, backed by topnotch production values. Possible can't miss potential. Flip: No info available.

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT — 2 min. Satisfies FCC requirements.

LANCE LEARNS TO BOX — A daring breakthrough in "guerilla" theater, this jagged fragment of American family life was originally performed as a street psychodrama by the now-defunct Apeshit Players, the company "that offed Broadway".

16 GOLDEN BITS — A great gift idea!

AN EVENING WITH SLY STONE — The flamboyant pop-music phenomenon reveals a fascinatingly different side to Government-subsidized cameras. Part of Public Television's continuing series, "Send Money".

IN SOMEONE'S SNEAKERS — Written and spoken by Rod McPoem. Music by Anita P. Daley. From the forthcoming album, "Easy Street and Other Angles".

WHERE'S JOHNNY — Tentatively scheduled: Fess Parker, Gloria Loring, Dr. Newman Fine, author of "The Soap Diet". 90 min.

YOUR HOME DELI KIT

THE RICHARD BEEBE: A seductive slab of shapely pastrami is licked into ecstasy by smoked tongue, watched enviously from above by a limp slice of Jack cheese, lubricated by a salacious spurt of Russian dressing, all pressed in the warm embrace of rye toast. Sold for the prevention of hunger only.

THE MICHAEL McKEAN: Potted meat food product, surrounded by an angry band of tasty chives, surrendering to a domineering beefsteak tomato, leveled by a barrage of stewed cabbage on a battlefield of white bread. You win!

THE HARRY SHEARER: Sauerbraten and Kosher salami learn to live together in this yeasty urban atmosphere of sleepy chili, swarthy goulash and zucchini tossed from a speeding car. Piled high in a tenement of sesame crackers. Eat it before the chitlins move in.

THE DAVID L. LANDER: L is for lox, smothered with hefty Bermuda onions, resuscitated with a thick coating of sour cream, recuperating on a bed of tangy Union-label lettuce, served open-faced on a crunchy square of linoleum. Timid tummies need not apply.
