Georges Montalba has selected some familiar, but unusual material for this program of pipe organ fantasy. From the mysterious and erotic qualities of Danse Macabre to the thundering crescendi of Ritual Fire Dance, Montalba establishes himself as a master of this wonderful instrument. He is assisted by two drummers with an armory of cymbals, bells, triangles, tympany, and all the other necessary percussive battery required to produce such a program in good musical taste and excitement.

To the organ aficionado, the etchings contained will become a treasure, to the sound addict, a challenge to his finest equipment in tonal response covering the full frequency range at recording levels rarely achieved in disc reproduction.
