So, you really want to know what Steve Martin is like? You say you believe that your sense of humor can withstand such a trial? Here goes.

This special marks the Warner Brothers Music Show's transition from tape to disc, getting 1979 off to a hilarious start. The show contains cuts from both of Steve's Warner Bros. albums, "A Wild And Crazy Guy" and "Let's Get Small", as well as interviews with Steve, his manager, and people on the street. This interview was conducted during Steve's appearance at the Universal Amphitheatre in Los Angeles. This special was produced and edited by David Brandes who also acted as interviewer. We hope that your listeners will enjoy this insight into a truly wild and crazy guy.

Please return this attached postcard as soon as possible. Your comments are both welcome and appreciated, as are any ideas you may have for future Music Shows and specials.

Happy New Year.
